

Tyler Nottberg, CEO
US Engineering

Tyler Nottberg is the fifth generation of the Nottberg family to lead U.S. Engineering, where he has served as Project Engineer, Project Manager, and Vice President. Prior to joining the company, Tyler helped co-found the Legal, Economic, and Regulatory Affairs practice for the Gerson Lehrman Group. Before that, he worked as a policy analyst at The Eisenhower Institute and for Senator Richard Lugar (R-IN), both in Washington, D.C., and on the Senator's 1996 presidential campaign. He serves on the Board of Labconco Corporation, as well as various nonprofit boards, including The University of Kansas Health System's Advancement Board and The GreenLight Fund's Selection Advisory Committee. He is a Trustee of Colorado Succeeds and MRI Global, serves on the Steering Committee for KC Rising, and is the founder of Aligned, a group of business leaders focused on improving education in Kansas and Missouri.
